

“What Qualities Do You Have That You Are Thankful For?”

The quality that I have that I am thankful for is that I am very helpful. Being helpful in a school classroom helps create a better environment. By being helpful, I can help my classmates in times of need, work better as a team together and make class more fun. I can better understand my friends' feelings and learn how to solve problems correctly. I can also help make the classroom a happier place.

By being helpful, I can also help make the world a better place. I can do many acts of kindness that can help make the world and my neighborhood a better place. I can donate to a local food drive, help my neighbor bring in their groceries and clean up litter at my local park. By doing these acts of kindness, I can make my neighborhood cleaner and friendlier. Being helpful is the quality that I am very thankful for.