What quality of mine that I am most thankful for

The quality of mine that I am most thankful for is my active imagination. I am thankful for my imagination because it gives me entertainment when I'm bored, a way to fall asleep at night, and even real world problems. My imagination also comes in handy a lot especially when I am free playing with my little sister. My favorite thing to do with my imagination is to draw! I love to draw so many things from superheroes to make believe animal combinations or both! Even though things in a book are already written down, it doesn't mean I can't use my imagination for that too. Sometimes I take one of my little sister's children's books, flip to the last page and make up a story line based on the pictures. That is the quality of mine that I am most thankful for and why.
