Thankfulness

There are many levels of excellence that people have that I'm thankful for being wholeheartedness. Thanksgiving is all about being thankful to someone or something like I'm thankful for my family and my life. There are more things that I am thankful for but those are the main things that I am thankful for. The reason that I'm thankful for my family is because they show love to me, feed me, a place to live, to sleep, and so many other things! I am also thankful for my life because I was born and the life that I was given isn't mean or unacceptable. My life was given to me to have a good life, to have friends, have fun, and to be loved. My life wasn't given to live under a rock!

More qualities about me is being honest! This is all about me being truthful! Unlike being a liar or not telling the truth. The reason why I am honest is because I want to have good friends. Friends that don't leave me for someone else. That is why I would like to also thank my friends that always have been there with me and have gone through on what I have gone through. Thanksgiving is all about showing love and thanking others. This is why I am thankful for everything.
