

Thankfulness

There are many qualities that I have I'm thankful for. One quality that I am thankful for is being honest. Honesty is one of the many qualities I have, it is important to everybody so they know if im telling the truth or not.

One other quality is courage, being brave. Courage is important because you're not afraid to do anything. Another reason is that courage is to not let yourself down. I have this quality because one time I went to a large rollercoaster when I really did not want to.

Another quality is self-awareness, seeing the impact of your action. Self-awareness is important because you could see what your actions did. One time I had self-awareness was when I helped somebody and after that they thanked me.

This is why I'm thankful for my qualities but not everybody has the same qualities as me.