

Thankfulness

There are many qualities that people have that im thankful for one quality i have is kindness i am kind because this one time a group of girls were talking about another girl and i told the girl that a group of people were talking bad about her and then she told the principal

Another quality I have is loyalty because I will !NEVER! EVER tell anyone someone else's secret or something because that's just rude for someone to do that and that's just called fake friends and if someone told me to keep their wallet and no one to touch it i won't break a promise EVER i was in a situation where that Happened to me i told someone to hold my bag because i needed to use the Bathroom and then i told them to just hold it thats IT and then when they were Leaving and she dropped my book bag but when we were in 4th grade i held her Bookbag and waited