THANKFULNESS!

One quality I have is being able to be ordinary. By ordinary I mean being a leader. Every Time I get older it's harder to be a leader because there are tons of kids out there who I want to be, but my sister and my moms words make me want to be who I really am. See every year there is a new ' style ' in which everyone does (well most people) most of the time people just use the advice and be who others want to be by the way they look, but just because others may look different or ' better ' doesn't mean you follow them. Everyone is perfect in their own way, I really do believe that. I love being me because it just shows that I love myself and I do. Sometimes I may look in the mirror and try clothes that are my sort of thing but also not. I love being a leader and people should be who they really want to be as well, take my advice, really do, I know you need it but don't force yourself! Let me tell you this one more time ,

BE WHO YOU WANT TO BE, BECAUSE YOU ARE ABSOLUTELY PERFECT JUST THE WAY YOU ARE!!!

Ps- love yourself, please be a leader because I bet your going to do a great job
