

My good qualities

By Matias Montes De Oca

Well, we all know that no one is perfect and maybe I'm not any good quality, can anybody relate? The one I'm closest to is loyalty. My friends say I am, even my mother says I'm loyal. That makes me feel great, it's nice to know that someone actually cares about you, right?

Now let's get to it. I have a friend named Alan and both of us aren't really that popular. People bully us and leave us just because we don't fit in. The thing is, I fit in more than he did. Instead of going with the cool and popular kids, I went with my friend. We both wanted to be popular but lots of people like that get bad grades and get in lots of bad situations. I was thankful that I had a friend.

For the most part, I am a weird person. I have my ups and downs, my good and bad, but I get through it. Even though I do want to be popular, I just keep going and going. Just like me and Alan. What about you? Which student do you feel like you are?

Have any of you guys heard of introverts and extroverts? An introvert doesn't really like to talk to lots of people, but an extrovert likes to talk to people. I like to talk to people as in one person or groups of people. People aren't the same, no one is. That's one way we are all different in different ways. So me and my friend decided that we are just not people who can do what a cool and popular person can.

Alan was not a bad friend unlike the popular kids, they were rude to everyone, they even got into fights. This means that sometimes, you can have bad friends. I had a ton of bad friends who betray me and hate me, everyone gets bad friends. I had to leave my friend I had ever since I was a baby. Though it can be hard, I let her go and continue going on and on. Good friends joke with you and help you, Alan helped me draw, but bad friends don't do that, they talk bad about you and treat you terrible. Since I was loyal, I have a good friend and my skill of drawing has improved.

Let me introduce you to an example of the difference between an introvert and extrovert. An example for an introvert is... Imagine a kid who sits alone at a table with no one with him, he doesn't want to talk to people, he just wants to do what he is supposed to. An example for an extrovert is... Imagine a kid sitting with lots of people making a lot of friends and loves to talk to people. Those are the examples of the differences. Overall, this is the story of me and my friend and our loyalty towards each other. Hope you enjoyed this story, and hope you enjoy your day.

Go on and on and on.

By Matias Montes De Oca.

They may be bad and good.

And feelings that feel like you're punching wood.

But you ignore them and go on and on.

There is love in the air.

But also things that are unfair.

But you ignore them and go on and on.

You can go down and up.

But make sure you never give up.

Go on and on and on across the trails of fields.