

Thankfulness

There are many qualities that people have that I am thankful for. One quality that I Am thankful for is my intelligence. I am thankful for my intelligence because it makes it a lot easier for me to understand things that the teacher talks about and like one time when everybody was confused on a question and I was not. I feel like I need them to demonstrate the strategy for me to understand more clearly and sometimes I like learning because it makes me even more intelligent to understand things better for the future. I show intelligence by answering questions and getting them correct.
