Thankfulness

A quality that is good for me would be honesty because honesty is the best policy.

I hate being lied to so I think that Honesty is the best.

Nobody likes to be lied to; they might not show it but they might know it.

I always be honest because it makes others happy.

I use it all the time from talking about how my day was to writing a book.

I used to do it every day but sometimes it's okay to lie just always to make it right like when I lied about my quiz grade I lied and then made it right and told the throat.
