

Thankfulness

There are many qualities that people have, the qualities that I am thankful for are Honesty, Integrity, Courage, Self-Awareness, and Wholeheartedness. I chose these traits/words because I have done good things that can be described as these words so I will be telling you what I did and why I am thankful for it.

Honesty

One time I didn't walk my dog on time and my dad asked me if I walked the dog and I said no. He wasn't mad because I told the truth and didn't lie to him. So he just told me to go walk my dog so that she doesn't do anything in the house. When I came back he also wanted to talk to me about something that I did in school and I told him the truth. And I got grounded because I got in trouble for what I did.

Integrity

One time I was going to the store to get something to drink and I had spare change so I put it towards charity for kids with cancer and those that need help with cancer. I once put money in the tip jar in a deli because they had good service and they had good drinks and food in there so I decided to put some money in the tip jar so that they could keep having the food and drinks there.

Courage

One time I was courageous was when I was defending my friend. I defended him because he was getting bullied by some kids and said things like "you're autistic and sped" and that hurt me too because I was once called that and I don't want anyone to feel the same way like I did. So I defended him and told an adult so that the kids could be dealt with after the situation. My friend said to me "Thank you for defending me when I was getting bullied." and I said you're welcome.

Wholeheartedness

The one of few times I was wholehearted was when I broke my friend's pen by accident while we were taking a test in class. I told him about it and I told him I was sorry about the pen and don't know how this happened and that I will buy him a new pen because I did not mean to break the pen when I was just clicking it after I finished the test. So I was very sincere when I said it and I got a new pen like I promised to him. He said thank you to me and I said that he was welcome and that I was really sorry for breaking his pen.

Leadership

There were a few times I showed leadership and I'm going to show one of them. So this one time I was showing leadership was when I was doing the right thing in line to go to lunch and my teacher used me as an example to show the rest of the class on how we as a class should line up as we are going down and up to lunch in the school. Then she used me as an example again during class because I was quiet and ready to line up outside the classroom to go home and my teacher told my class to be like me and be quiet when we were about to line up to go home.

Loyalty

One time I was loyal was when I was being nice to my friends and classmates because I wanted to do the right thing and be nice to them so that I don't have to get in trouble so much with my teachers. For example I used to get in trouble a lot when I started 6th grade, but now, I am nice to everyone in my class and my teachers because I have learned to respect others or else I will never get the respect I want from them so I have decided to be nice to people even if I don't like them as a friend because it's not cool to be rude to people you don't like or else you will get in trouble because that hurts them.
