

My qualities

I have several qualities that I am thankful for. I think of myself as an honest, courageous, kind and helpful person. I have these qualities because of the great job my parents did at raising me.

One quality that I have is honesty. My parents taught me to always tell the truth and I live by this everyday. One time when I was 7 years old, I remember breaking a glass cup at night while everyone was sleeping. I knew I could have said nothing about it but I told my mom even though I thought I might be in trouble. I know lying is a bad quality and I don't like it when people lie to me so I never do it. Being honest is good because you don't have to feel the guilt of lying and it also makes you a trustworthy person.

Another quality I have is my kindness. My parents raised me to treat others the way I want to be treated. When I meet new people, I treat them with kindness. I like to make others happy and treat them in a nice way. When my mom is getting groceries I help her at the supermarket. I help her put the groceries in the bags and carry them home. When my mom does the laundry I also help her with putting the clothes in the machine and folding them when they are dry. When I speak to my friends and teachers I give compliments and stay polite. I also help my brother whenever he needs help. One time he needed help in a video game and I was with him to help him level up. Being kind is who I am and it makes people happy inside. Being kind also makes me happy to know that i made someone happy today.

I am also a very hardworking person. I always put in a lot of effort whenever I do something. I like to work hard because if I work hard I'll get better things like good grades. I work hard in school and at home. I take my homework seriously and work hard to get a good grade. I work at home by doing what my mom needs me to do. I wash the dishes and take out the trash. I even cook sometimes and like to make eggs and pancakes. I like to be a hard worker because i like to move around and i sometimes get high reward.

Another quality I have is being responsible. One example of this is when I was taking care of my brother when he was sick. I gave him medicine and wet towels for his foreheads. I am responsible for my things and try not to lose anything. I am responsible for taking care of my school computer and my phone. I am also responsible for keeping my room clean. I like to be responsible because I get to do important things.

I am thankful for my helpfulness. I help my parents clean around the house when they need it. I help my brother with his homework. I also sometimes make mom and dad coffee. I help my mom when she gets ready to leave the house by getting her things like her keys and airpods. I also helped my brother win an after school contest. I like to help other people because its kind and some day they will be able to help me in my time of need.

I think I am an organized person because I like to keep things organized. I organize the clothing in my closet like my jackets and pants. I also keep my room clean by organizing my toys. I have a lot of toys so it can get messy very quickly. I also organize my books so they are nice and neat. I like to organize things because it keeps things nice and clean and then I know where everything is.

I am really thankful for the different good qualities that I have. I am also thankful for my parents for teaching me these good qualities. They taught me to be kind, honest, responsible and hardworking.
