

Thankfulness

There are many qualities that people have that I am Thankful for. One quality i have is patience because one day i was teaching someone in dance class a trick because my teacher i told me because she was teaching but she gave me permission to teach her something it was hard because she didn't really get it so much so i was a little bit streets but i had patience so i teach her the trick and at the end she did it and i show her how to do it. And also a second quality i have is teaching because one day i had to teach someone in taekwondo class someone because the teacher was doing something so the teacher was stress that the girl did not get the kick so the teacher told m e to teach the girl the kick because i am the advanced one in my class so i teach her and she really learned a lot from me so i was happy because i teach her how to do it and sometimes you just in patience .
