

Thankfulness..

I'm thankful for my Grandma because She helped my mom when she had me at a young age. My grandma is one of the nicest person to talk to. I talk to her all the time. She let me move in with her and her kids when my mom wasn't at home all the time. My grandma put me in a school with kids that I know I will be in class with and they were good kids. I'm happy to see my grandma happy. She is my number 1 .

I'm thankful for my cousin because he encouraged me to play basketball. We grew up like sisters and brothers. My cousin is the person you can have fun with . My cousin Is someone you can be honest with. My cousin is like the only one in my family that can encourage you .

I'm thankful for my God for making me have a wonderful life and having a family. Sometimes I wonder why people are dying and going up there. I wonder if my Grandpa is ok. I hope he is. God is a good man but sometimes I wonder if it is ok to lie one time just so you don't get hurt. I know some people who tell the truth and get hurt but why ? Like when you lie you don 't get hurt but when you do and try to tell the truth you get hurt for no reason. One question I will ask God if I see him is why people get hurt for telling the truth .

Wholehearted ..

I love to encourage people to do things they love like my uncle i encourage him to start cooking and now his good at it i love to help and do this the right way i love seeing my little sister encourage people to she get it from me i love to help and be nice but sometime i can get mean in a way but i love helping people when they need it even when i have to teach my myself first i have a good heart . I know how to understand people. I help people with what is going on. I love to help and try my best to help having a good heart. It is a lot of work but I will try .

Im thankful for my big sister for being on my side no matter what she help me with things we don't have the same mom but we have the same dad i see her when we feel like seeing each im happy to have a big sister she takes care of me even when i don't need taking care of i'm happy to be her sister we play , we have fun , we alway have to eat i happy to be someone little sister thank you for everything to did .

Im thankful for my mom she so nice and a loving person i'm happy to be with her she had me at a young age but im so happy to be someone kid i'm thankful because i have a loving mom who cares about you and other people my mom encourage me to do cheer so i did for 2 years i hope i tryout next year too im so happy that people like my mom is here by my side always im happy to be ere with the person who cares i will love my mom until the day i die .

I'm thankful for basketball because i got in encourage to play it im happy im playing basketball i love we work hard im happy basketball it a thing im so happy to be alive to play it . but one thing i get asked is why do i play basketball? I play basketball because my cousin and uncle and me we would go outside to play basketball and my uncle want to be a nba player and my cousin to so i seen girls play and i started to love basketball i been to a basketball game one time it was fun i seen ja morant one of my favorite player when he first started i started to love him so now i want to play basketball to i want to be a nba player just like him when i see him again i going to have some much question , thank you for reading .