

Qualities I am Thankful For

By David Velez

There are a lot of qualities I am thankful for. The qualities I'm going to tell you I'm thankful for are being funny and being caring. They also help me with my life.

One of the qualities I'm thankful for is being funny . A reason I think I'm funny is because I make my friends laugh a lot . Another reason I think being funny is important is it helps me with my social life.

Another quality I am thankful for is being caring. Being caring is important because it helps me to be a good person. Another reason being caring is important is it could help me make friends.

As a human, I have the qualities of being caring and being funny. I have a lot more qualities but these qualities are extra special. I'm really happy these qualities make me, me!
