

Qualities I am Thankful For

By Grayson Leboeuf

I have a lot of qualities about myself that I like. I like these qualities because they make me who I am. They also help me do what I am good at and what I like doing.

One of the qualities about myself that I am thankful for is that I'm athletic. I think that I'm athletic because I play more than two sports and I'm good at them. For me, being athletic is a good thing because I like playing sports every day. Also, my whole family loves sports so I think it is good that I enjoy watching and playing sports.

Another quality about myself is that I'm kind. I think that being kind is a good thing for other people because you make good friends and it also helps people if you're helping them. I think it's good for you because you feel good when you help other people.

As a person I have many qualities but there are two qualities that stand out to me. My athleticism and my kindness. I am thankful for these qualities because they help me every day. I also think that other people like my qualities in me too!
