

Thank you, Cheer

I remember when I was just five years old and I loved you.

I always wanted to be the best I could be for you.

I used to practice every day so I could be great.

I remember when I would run away from the football boys so they didn't hit me .

Now I'm in seventh grade and still cheering. And guess what, I'm the captain. I love it but it can also be tiring. It's tiring because I also play volleyball. But you will always be my first love. I push every day to be the best I can. All because I love you like you're my soulmate.

I hope when I am in 8th grade I can make the J.V team. I am trying so hard to learn more moves and get stronger just so I can make the team.

Love, Ashlynn
