Thankful Essay

Some qualities that I have are that I'm funny, friendly, athletic, and I'm creative. These qualities show me who I really am. Funny is important to me because sometimes when my family and I play family game night if I act out someone they laugh at me. For example I can act out my brother. That is why being funny is important to me.

I can be friendly but if someone is hurt I can make them laugh. For example if my best friend Sadie is hurt I will be there for her. I can also tell her she is tough. I can also tell her to shake it off. That is why being friendly is important.

I can be athletic but if someone is upset I can be funny and athletic. I can also be athletic by playing basketball. I can give people shows of me. That will be so funny. That is why being athletic is important to me.

I can be creative by going to art. I can also be creative by making art pictures up. Another thing why I am creative is because I can teach little kids how to draw. That will be really fun. That is why being creative is important to me.

These qualities mean a lot to me because they show who I really am. I am so thankful that God has given them to me!
