Thankful essay

I have a lot of different qualities. One quality is curiosity. I am very curious. I like to explore and I like to find out things that I did not know. When I grow up I want to be a scientist. I like to wander around. I love this quality because when you are curious you can find out about more things. When I get older I want to discover something that will make the world better.

Another quality is kindness. I am very kind. I like to help people, even the people I do not know. I like to care for people. People are an important part of our lives. So, it is important to be kind to them. I am happy I have this quality.

My third quality is caring. You should care for other people, not just yourself. If you want caring to be one of your qualities you have to be helpful to someone. That way they know that you are a very caring person. Caring is a quality that shows you're a great person.

My last quality is creativity. I love to do art. Art is one of the things I love. Art is my 3rd favorite subject. It is a good quality for you to have. You can use this quality by designing things. Designing things is a beautiful work of art. Creativity is a wonderful quality.

Being curious, creative, showing that I am caring and that I am kind, make me who I am. I am so thankful for having these qualities that God gave me!

I can also be thankful for being honest. Being honest means like telling the truth with the facts. I'm grateful for honesty because it helps me make better decisions and build trust with my family and friends. However, I am learning that sometimes being honest can hurt someone's feelings. For example, my mom has white hair on top of her head. I don't want to tell her that because she might feel sad.
