Thankful Essay

I have four qualities. One of the four is imagination. I use it to play. It helps me make friends because it helps me to make up games that my friends also like. That is why I am thankful for that quality.

Another one of my qualities is that I am caring. Being caring helps me because people know that I don't care only about myself and I care about others. This helps me make friends easier. That is how this quality helps me.

My third quality is creativity. I love to draw. I also love colors. This quality helps me draw. My creativity makes me a good artist. That is why I am thankful for that quality.

My fourth quality is kindness. I am thankful for this quality because it also helps me make friends. I love to be kind. When my friend fell in the school yard I helped her up and brought her to the principal and then the nurse.

All of these qualities help me to make better friendships and grow as a person. In the past, when things have bothered me, these qualities helped me make good choices and have a bigger group of friends. This is why I am thankful for my good qualities. I have many more but I only wrote four.
