Thankful Qualities

I am daring. I think this is a good trait to have. It means you are willing to go to the ends of the earth for your friends. An example is when I stood up to a bully to help my friend. This helps me help others.

My second trait is that I try to assist people every day. I like this trait. It means I always want to help. An example is when my friend fell and I helped them up. This also means most people are my friends.

My third trait is I am curious. I love to learn new things. This trait is important to me because it means you like learning new things which is good. An example of this is when I asked my mom about when she was young and learned a lot about her childhood. This trait helps me learn.

My fourth trait is that I am kind. This means I am nice. This also means I am caring. Once my mom got sick and I took care of her. This trait helps me take care of others.

My fifth and final trait is that I am creative. Creativity is what binds all of my traits together. It is my heart and soul. Its my life I love it. This helps me be imaginative.
