I am grateful for my mother who has always been there for me when I needed her. I remember those mother daughter days when we would go out, get something to eat, and go shopping. My mom is my best friend. I tell her everything, I tell her what happened everyday at school or at camp, who is my friend today and who I hate that day. My mom is my rock; she always sticks up for me if my dad is mad at me. And there are some days that I don't treat her like I shouldn't because my mom is an awesome person and does not get the credit she deserves.

Moms are beautiful, amazing people who don't get the credit or respect they deserve. Moms are there for us and do everything for their kids and will go to great lengths for their kids. Moms work, clean, pay bills and still always make sure to put a smile on their kids faces. Moms are incredible people.

I look up to my mom. My mom is the mom i hope to be when im older. My mom is my role model. She does so much for our family and I love her for it. There's no mom like my mom. Everyday I look forward to going home and calling or see my mom and telling her about my day. The crazy days are the best and I'm always there for her. When my mom needs me I listen, It's the least I can do. She's always ready to hear about my days and I will do the same for her. I am always there to hear about what is happening at work and how it's going and what's the news in the office. My mom is my rock and I could not ask for a better one and, yes we get into fights but that's what makes us stronger because we are family we can get rid of each other, we are together forever. When we fight after a few hours we talk about it and we get through it together, without my mom I don't know what I would do without her.

Maya Angelou once said, "Knowing my mother walks beside me gives me the strength to weather any storm." I agree with this because with my mother next to me I feel brave just like her, I feel tough like her. I need my mom for so many reasons and not for the normal to buy food. I need my mom because without her I would have all these thoughts piling up inside me with no one to talk about them with. People say a dog is a man's best friend, my mom is mine.
