

Thanksgiving

I'm thankful for my water.

And also for my food.

But most of all I'm thankful for my family and friends.
And don't forget the roof over my head and my clothes.

The one thing all of these things have in common are
that they are all basic needs (of living things).

My family is the most important thing I value
because they're always there to support me.

My friends because they are always with me
to cheer me up.
