What I am Thankful For Thanksgiving is a day for thanks, the day when all my family comes to visit and we dine like kings and queens. With turkey and jam, potatoes and bread we have a wonderful time.

Thanksgiving is a time to socialize and love. The children laugh and joke while eating warm apple pie and sipping the cider our aunts and uncles have brought. As the children do so, the adults laugh and talk about politics while sipping their wine and beer. We are all hugging and loving in the warmth of the fire. It is the time to forgive, the time to forget, and the time for hugs and love. This is what I am most thankful for.
