

I'm Thankful for My Education

By Bethany Ekezie

I'm thankful for school. You probably don't hear many kids say this but I am. I love school. School to me is a home away from home. I love learning. It's as if learning is my food and I yearn for more. In school you learn different things everyday. I love books and libraries. Libraries have many books. Libraries are like heaven to me. Dozens of dozens of bookshelves filled with books. Reading is one of my favorite hobbies. I also love homework. Homework is what you learned at school but you have to do it at home. I love it. Schools also have music; many different types. There is orchestra, band, chorus, or regular music. I take orchestra. I love orchestra. There are violins, violas, cellos, and basses. I play the violin. I love spending time reading music and moving my fingers up, down and sideways across the violin's neck. The last reason I love school is because of teachers. Teachers are the main part of school. They teach you the learning. All you have to do is listen and engage your mind.
