I am Thankful

My family members are my rays to my sun. My niece who passed away is the reason I wake up in the morning, with a smile on my face because I know if she was still her that is what she would want.

Briana Hope Paz my niece was only eight months old when she passed away. She was already a fully formed baby when we found out that her heart stopped beating. This little girl is my inspiration and motivation every day. When I'm going through something hard in life I just look back and remember she would want me to smile in a hard time like this. I have pictures in a little album for her and she just makes me feel that I'm not alone and that every day may be a fight but I will always win. I've learned that life is like a roller coaster you have your ups and your downs, but you always get up and dust your self of and get back stronger than ever before. Briana has thought me a lot for the little time she has spent here. Not everything will turn out your way but you have to keep fighting.

I am so happy to have her in my life and I love her so much she is my little inspiration.
