

I am thankful for...
A poem by Harper Sanders

I am thankful for what brightens my day
The beautiful blue sky
The smiling faces throughout the world
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for my loved ones
My family, who support me and encourage me
My friends who have my back every step of the way
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for my heart
Where my loved ones are always with me
And where I can feel emotion
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for the helpful people out there
The armies protecting all of the innocent people
The doctors saving lives
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for education
The teachers who increase my depth of knowledge
The information that is always at my fingertips
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for the people
Good and bad, who can grow and change
The ones who work together as a team
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for my country
For freedom and the ability to speak what's on my mind
For the opportunity to help people all around the world
This is what I am thankful for

I am thankful for the opportunity to be thankful
