"Teaching Minds, Touching Hearts, Transforming Lives"

What Are You Thankful For?

Essay by Joy Agouda

Happy Thanksgiving

A small illustration of a brown woven bowl overflowing with various autumn harvest items, including pumpkins, gourds, and corn cobs.

This year was an awesome year because my mother is getting married; and I'm at a nice school with a great new friend.

I am grateful for my family, for God who made me, a roof on top of my head, and for a lovely teacher that teaches me. I have nice classmates that always have my back. I'm also thankful for the food that God provides for us.

I am also thankful for our Senator Penepinto; for allowing us to participate in this Thanksgiving Day essay.
