Do you want to know what I am thankful for, well I am thankful that I got to go on a trip to England with my grandmother. This trip to England was in celebration of my grandmother's 58th birthday. Growing up she dreamed of taking a trip to England. So we surprised her with this trip. And we all traveled together to celebrate. She was so surprised and so happy. I am thankful this year, that I shared with my grandmother her special trip. While there we saw Buckingham Place and the changing of the guards. We took a tour bus all round London. We sat on the top of the tour bus and it was a fun experience. We could see everything that was far away. I also visited Big Ben and I learned that Big Ben chimes every 15 minutes.

While on this trip we also took the train over to visit Paris, another big surprise for Grandma. We went to see the Eiffel Tower, and visited lots of sites. We stayed in Paris for three days, when I watched television I did not understand anything that the people said, no English was on the television. We also saw the Lock of Love Bridge where we placed a lock with our names. We saw hundreds of locks on this bridge and we took lots of pictures.

I am so thankful that I was able to take this trip with my grandmother and we enjoyed everything that we did together. I am so thankful that I have my grandmother, because so many kids no longer have their grandmother with them.

This Thanksgiving I will celebrate another year with my grandparents and continue to thank God that I have my family to share special events and memories. I will remember this trip forever like so many other things I have done with my grandparents.
