

“Full of Thanks”

Autumn leaves knock the rainbow out of the park
With colors like fiery red, mellow yellow and super orange
They fall softly down making a crunching sound
Much better than my bedroom’s squeaky door hinge
I can’t imagine a world without color

Books take me to a place of imagination
Takes me away from reality
They come in handy when I’m upset or it’s pouring
Without them I’d be super boring

My friends never tell me what to do
And they’re the ones I can talk to
If we were in a TV show
We’d be the weird but cool kids nobody knows
I don’t care what people say they’re the best kids I know

Most of all I am thankful for family
They love me more than I’ll ever know
And I love my parents just the same
Even when they’re being super lame

I am full of thanks

By

Alexia P.