I am Thankful for Many Things Everything

There are many reasons why everyone,including me ,should thankful this year. Sometimes we want more and don't appreciate what we already have. We often overlook the fact that we have many things to be thankful for .

It is not easy surviving without food and water. In fact, you can't go many days without food and water. This is why I am thankful that my family has enough money to provide me with the food and water we need . But ,this also reminds me that many people are starving out in the world. This inspires me to help others.

I am also thankful that I have shelter. Without shelter , where would we be when it rains and snows ?? Could you imagine what would happen to me if I was homeless during a blizzard???? I would probably be in the subway or out on the streets. This reminds me that the next time you are complaining to your mom and dad about the way your room looks, think: "Where would I be without my room or shelter?"

In addition to being thankful for my shelter, I am thankful for all the clothing my family provides me with. I must admit my mother spoils me the most. I would be lost without my fluffy coat. Wouldn't you? So this is one of the reason we need warm clothing. Personally, I think that coats, hats, and gloves are one of the most important articles of clothing. Especially during winter and fall.

My I am thankful for is my family. Imagine where you would be without your family. There are many children without families. Think about where you would be if you didn't have people who care and love you.I thank God everyday that I have my family to

When I see , there are many things that I am thankful for. Although we often think about the things they are blessed with, they should take a moment to think about what others don't have and how lucky they are.
