What am I Thankful for?

There are many things to be thankful for in this world like having food, water, nature, education, oxygen, and holidays. There are many things that I am thankful, and if you want to know, you should keep reading!

The first thing I am thankful for is my family and friends. I am thankful for my family because they comfort me when I am sad and protect me. Most of my family lives far away, but I call them often. I also send letters to them and they answer back to me which is very exciting. I am thankful for my friends because they are funny and they are kind.

The second thing I am thankful are all the things that my parents work hard to provide me with. They give me a warm home, clothes, and delicious food. I am thankful for my house because I have a place to live and a place to relax. I am thankful for my cloths because they keep me warm in the winter and cool in the summer. I am thankful for the food my parents provide me with, so I won't starve to death.

The third thing I am thankful for is my imagination. Art has played a major role with my imagination. It allows me to express my feelings and inspire other people. In addition to art, music has allowed me to express my personality. Having an imagination is amazing. If I didn't have one, then my life would be super boring. Without it, I wouldn't be able to understand art or music. I wouldn't be able to imagine anything.

Last but not least, I am most thankful for my DAD! My dad survived a ruptured small intestine. He went to the hospital and it was really scary. He had surgery and two days later he had a second surgery that saved his life. He was in the hospital for 9 days and he couldn't eat or drink for 6 of those days. I visited him every day. Other kids couldn't understand how I felt. I was scared when I almost lost my dad.

As you can see, there are many things I am grateful for and many things to be grateful for. You shouldn't take anything you have for granted. I know I won't ever take anything for granted anymore. I will always be thankful for all the things that I possess.
