

“I Am Thankful”

The term thankful means that you are thankful to have friends and family to guide you all the way through school.

I'm thankful for my friends because they will always have your back when you are in a fight or if you get hurt. I'm also thankful for my family because they will always be there to help you, protect you, and guide you until you are old enough to do those things on your own.

I'm thankful for the holidays because that is the time my cousin comes home from the navy, plus it is a good time to hang out with your family and have some fun. I'm thankful for having animals because they spend time with you when you are down and when you are sick and the most important thing is when a criminal or a robber breaks into your house when you are sleeping they will probably protect you if you were still sleeping.

The next thing that I am thankful for is my teachers because 6th grade is more than just learning they try to make it fun unless someone gets on their bad side then they won't make the class fun anymore.

The last thing that I'm thankful for is my four wheeler and my snowmobile because if I don't take care of them my dad won't trust me with his Artic Cat 600 when I get older so I have to take care of my Yamaha 500.

And these are a few things that I'm thankful for.
