

Have you ever wondered about how wonderful your life is, or share what you are thankful for? Well, I'm about to share with you what makes my life so wonderful and what I am thankful for. I am thankful for my family, my home and my friends.

My wonderful family are the people who make my life so special. My sister Kayla lights up the world with her smile. My grandma loves me and does everything she can to improve my life. My mom loves me until the end of time, and my dad is my cheerleader and my number one fan, and supporter. My whole family like my aunts, uncles, cousins, grandparents, and family friends are so loving, thankful, filled with joy and amazing! I appreciate every single one of them.

I am also very thankful for my home, it is warm, cozy, and welcoming. It is perfect. My home has heat, air conditioning, a working fridge, an oven, a TV, and all the other necessities to survive. I am very thankful and lucky to have such a wonderful home.

I am also very, very thankful for my friends, because they are all so nice, helpful, friendly, funny, and a lot more. My friends are the best! My friends also help me through hard times and I try to help them friend related, school related or not. I am so thankful for my amazing, just absolutely amazing friends.

I am so, so, thankful for everything that I have and, that I have a wonderful family, home, friends, and life.
