

Thanksgiving

by: Glenn Marin

Thanksgiving is coming where people gather with their family and say what they are thankful for. Everyone has thanks from family, friends, or food. I have a lot of thanks like a family, freedom, and a table full of food. Sometimes people are going through tough times, or are poor, but they are thankful but they are thankful that there are people to help them out.

Everyone has the right to have a loving thanksgiving with family, friends, and food. Everyone has a choice or a chance to be what they want to be. They should be thankful for that and many more things like a home, parents, or even a job.

Everyone should be thankful for the people that sacrifice their life so you don't have to. We should be thankful for education and a wonderful country they live in. We should be thankful for our mothers, fathers, and the people that take care of us and love us for whatever we do for them. Thanksgiving is coming and everyone is happy for family, and food to love, and eat.
