

What I Am Thankful For

I am thankful for my family, friends , good health, good fortune and of course God. These are things that have no price and they can't be replaced.

I am thankful for my family above all else because they help me when I need it. They take care of me and love me. My mom and dad give me a warm loving home, and they take good care of me. They provide me with food, drinks, school, clothes and everything else I need. They are always there for me when I need them. I am so lucky to have 2 brothers and a little sister who I am very thankful for. They are always around for me to play with. My a brothers and I love doing the same things together. We play games with each other and look out for each other. My little sister is a blessing because she loves me and she is funny. I am sure to protect her all the time. She is always happy to see me.

I am thankful for my friends because we have similar interests and play on basketball and soccer teams. We play at the park together and play random tackling games, and football. It is nice to know I have someone to hang out with and to stick up for. I also am lucky my friends stick up for me.

I am thankful for my good fortune because I am able to help people in need. I once gave money to people that have cancer by raising about $500 doing a lemonade stand with my family. Because of our good fortune we are able to go on family vacations and we are also able to afford all the things we need.

I am very thankful that I have good health. There are many people who suffer with illnesses and I am lucky to be healthy.

I am thankful for God because he makes it all possible. Without God, we would not be here right now. Amen!
