P.S.147Q

When thanksgiving comes around there's always one question in everyone's mind, What are you thankful for? Well I'm thankful for my friends, family, the world that we live in, the people who protect us like police. I'm thankful for everyone in the world, the kindness that you give us, the love, and so much more! Everyone has helped me get through things, even some of the people that I didn't expect it from. When someone asks me "what are you thankful for?" The only answer there is for me is "everything and everyone" because all have helped me in many different ways even some weird ones, but no matter what i'm thankful for everyone. That's my answer so what are you thankful for?
