

Alex Cintron

The things that I am very thankful for in my life are my parents, LeBron James, The Lowell School, and my teachers. The reason I'm thankful for my parents because without them, I wouldn't be here. My parents always help me whenever I need it, either with homework or life. My parents are always buying me clothes that I need, thanks to them. If it weren't for them, I wouldn't be wearing clothes right now. I am thankful for my parents because they take me on trips. I'm very thankful to them for always taking me to areas that I've never been to, to explore the country. In conclusion, I show my gratitude to my parents by always helping them whenever they need it.

I am thankful for LeBron James because without him, I wouldn't be watching basketball today. LeBron is the goat of basketball; nobody can be better than not even Michael Jordan. LeBron is always better than Michael Jordan. If LeBron James never existed, I don't even know what the NBA would be today. LeBron James is the best basketball player to date because he's 41 and still in the NBA and cooking. I'm thankful for LeBron James because he's taught me how to play basketball. I am thankful for LeBron because I've always looked up to LeBron. After all, he's just such a goat that and a good role model that I would love to follow in his footsteps because he's a very kind person in a generous person. Conclusion, I show my gratitude to LeBron by watching all his games and always putting posters in my room.

I am thankful for the Lowell school because if it weren't for the Lowell school, my grades and my reading wouldn't have improved. I'm thankful for the Lowell school because they're school has taught me a lot of lessons about how to be kinder to people. Without the Lowell school, I don't think I'd be doing as good as I'm doing now. The Lowell school helps me so much because it provides me with the stuff that I need to improve in my work that in the future, when I'm in college like I can use all these strategies that way I can pass all my classes in College. I'm thankful for the Lowell school, too, because the Lowell school will help me get to the point that I need to get to, and they will help me get accepted or try to help me get into a college of my choice. In conclusion, I am thankful for the law school because it always helps me whenever I need help.

I am thankful for my teachers because they always teach me new things. I am thankful for my teachers because they always teach me new things that I've never learned about before. Without my teachers, I don't think I would know half of the stuff that I know now. My teacher always gives me advice in life, and they always tell me what's the right thing to do. My teacher always tells me to act like a leader, not a follower. They always get good advice, and they always give me the right tools to use so that I'm able to do my work and homework. If it weren't for my teachers, I wouldn't have the skills that I have today. In conclusion, I show my gratitude by always telling my teachers that I appreciate them every day.