

I am thankful for my life, a roof over my head, and my family

I am thankful that I woke up today; that is a God's blessing that some people aren't able to experience that blessing that is given. "Never take advantage of what god gave you because it can always get taken away". Today, I am thankful that all my family members woke up and got to experience another beautiful day. I sat down and thought, I am grateful for a roof over my head. At least I have a roof over my head because people aren't able to experience that type of blessing or joy that I have been blessed with. I'm not money-rich, but I'm definitely rich when it comes to having love, support, and family. Family is not something that you can replace they have been there since you were and currently some people dont have the family that other people can enjoy to have or come home to a mother that greets you when you walk in to the house or you parents are always working afternoon and night shifts so they can barely see them and works 7 days a week and I just think to myself being very grateful for what I have, sometimes I can take things for granted and not realize what i get and have many others dont, To the ending of this writing to sum it up " dont take things for granted".
