Essay Prompt: What are you thankful for?

Part 1 My Mother's Love ♡

"A mother's love has been my strength, my comfort, and my greatest gift." quote by Jennifer K. Hall. My mom is truly special and made a critical impact on my life. I can never thank her enough, but I am truly grateful and thankful for everything she does and everything she is.

First, she helped me make new friends when I moved from P.S. 209 John Brown in first grade. She always kept warm smiles to welcome me home each time I finished a lonely day at school.

She also gave me advice on how to talk with new people and be kind. I was nervous and shy at first, but she gently reminded me to keep moving. Because of her support, I was able to meet new classmates, build friendships, and feel more confident in my new school. Her encouragement made me feel more brave and comfortable to the new environment.

Second, my mom was my first chinese teacher. I never forgot the time when she held my hands to write my first chinese word and she cheerfully praised when I started to read a chinese poem by myself. Her patience helped me learn chinese from zero to scoring "4". She believed in me even when I doubted myself!

Finally, my mom was my best cheerleader. No matter what I did, she always inspired me and celebrated my successes, even the small ones that might seem unimportant to others. When I completed a school project, scored a goal in a game, or tried something new, she was the first person to cheer me on and tell me how proud she felt. Even though I made a few mistakes on my exam or lost a competition, she still trusted me and reminded me of my accomplishments to help me feel confident. Her support made me feel loved and gave me support to face uncertainty. Knowing that my mom believes in me makes a huge difference in my life.
