

The man I'm thankful for

A couple of things I am thankful for are Obamacare, because it gave me and my family good insurance. Obamacare helps to protect you just in case you have health issues. Obamacare keeps you on top of your health because it can help you with physical therapy. One time in my life, I had to go to Physical therapy because I fell down the stairs. I was injured and I was limping. Obamacare was so useful during that time because my parents did not have to pay out of pocket.

Barack Obama was significantly amazing. One of the best things he has done is donate to charities. Obama has donated scholarships and programs that helped kids get tuition and helped them cover living expenses. He had a foundation called the Obama Foundation.

Conclusion: I show my gratitude by writing about my 44th president, Barack Obama.
