Things I am Thankful For

There are so many things I am thankful for including my family, my house, and nature. First, I am thankful for family because they are fun especially when we play board games together on Shabbat. They also give me the things I need, like food, water, and a bed. Second, I am grateful for my house because it provides the shelter I need. My house also has enough room for my friends to visit. Finally, I appreciate nature because I can go with my friends to find salamanders. There are so many things I am grateful for.
