

What does it mean to be thankful?

One's heart should be filled with thankfulness, not greed. It is important to be thankful. It lets people know you respect them. Being thankful is a sign of respect and hospitality. For example, I am thankful for my school, my friends, sports, and my family. This essay will be about why I am thankful for these things.

I am thankful for my school. I am thankful for school because I've had so many fun memories here. My school is like a second home for me. The teachers are so nice and kind to everyone. My principal is great. She watches us at recess. She lets us go on trips.

I am thankful for sports. I am thankful for sports because sports build character. Sports help you to prepare for the real world. A good coach can change someone's life. Sports teach you you're not always going to win. This is why I am thankful for sports.

I am thankful for my friends. I am thankful for my friends because they are always there for me. They always get me out of tough situations and it would be very hard without them. I think kids need to hang out with their friends. Friends can be temporary or lifelong. This is why I am thankful for my friends.

Most of all I am thankful for my family. I am thankful for my family because they help me grow in faith as well as how to deal with situations. My brother is my role model and my first friend. My sister is like a second mother. You will always give me advice when I need it. My mom, I don't know what I would do without you. You are my role model, my chef, my cleaner, my emotional support guide, and my rowing trainer. Dad, if I ever have a question, a concern, or anything at all, you are there for me. You give me advice on all sports. I always feel safe with you. I know our relationship will be better if I can stay on my back foot.

Sincerely, Brendan Thomas Donohue.
