Shout Outs

To my Cousins, for having complete chaos happen every time we get together.

To my dog Leo, for being so loveable even if he gets noisy most of the time.

To my Phone, for helping me explore a world I didn't think was possible (for better and worse).

To Nature, For Being so peaceful and a place to get away.

To My Family, For Being close by at moments when other people aren't.

Especially to my mom, for keeping me on track to good things instead of A beaten path.

To TV, for having something to do while I have something else to do.

To Music, for saying and Feeling things that don't have words attached to them.

And lastly, to You, for just being... .
