

Title gratitude essay

A specific person who has impacted my life is my friend Nasry. This person has influenced me because he makes me laugh so hard and when I'm bored he hypes up and also when it is summer break. He was there for me because when it was the morning I called him and he did not care he always played with me. We played so much that instead of me calling him he called me and we had so much fun together and the main game we played was roblox but we also played minecraft which i did get mad because he destroyed my house. But one day we were doing hardcore (we just made the server) and there wasn't time for me to build a house because it was getting night and there was a baby zombie controlling a normal zombie. Nasry made a little shack and then I went inside and said I have no home and the zombie was at the door and he had an axe. I got attacked before so I was half heart. then the zombie was breaking the door and I don't know how but I died even though nasry was right in front of me and we were laughing so hard that my face turned red.

Another day was when we were mining and then he fell all the way down and we were laughing because he lost all of his stuff. And this impacted me because I never laughed so hard in my life and this is why my friend Nasry impacted my life and this is why I'll always be his friend and never leave him. Another story when I laughed is when we were in a village and I punched the iron golem and then the iron golem jumped and killed me by lifting me up in the air. Then I died and I was yelling yooooooo and we laughed so hard. But sometimes he can't play because he has to vacuum the house and I was laughing because he turned it on and it made a loud noise.

Another reason why he impacted my life is because he shared his snake with me and I was happy. One time me and Nasry played roblox and we played many games but we played one that was strategy which I was kinda bored with. Then I got more hype because it was a game I played in 2020 and it was fun because I learned good placement in the game. The more I played with Nasry I got better and I got so good I reached level 50 because of him. Then after playing a long time we just got bored of the game and kinda did not play roblox and then the two words that came out of his mouth are clash royal.

Last but not least, Nasry and I played clash royal. That was the best game i ever played and it was so fun and there were so many things that I had to learn. Like good placement skill and there were more and then he teached me by using pro cards by doing 1v1. Then he helped me so much I am in arena 13 and I am so good now. And this is why he impacted my life :).
