

What is thankfulness?

What does it mean to be thankful? Thankfulness is to be glad or grateful to have someone or something. I'm thankful for my family, the food and drink on my table, friends, my school, and soccer. In this essay I will tell you more about why I am thankful for each thing.

I am thankful for my family because they love me. My mom helps me with homework. My parents and my sisters make me laugh by telling me jokes and acting silly, especially when my mom dances. When I am sick they comfort me and help me feel better. They let me watch tv, even my dad when he is trying to watch the Giants game. My family makes me feel happy and loved. This is why my family is so important to me.

I am thankful for my friends because they hang out with me and they make me happy when I am sad. One example, is when I had a trunk or treat last year, I hit my head on a car door and my friend Bella helped me feel better. Another example is, my friend Samantha calls me everyday just to talk after school. This is why I appreciate my friends because they are always there for me.

I am thankful for the food and drink on my table every morning, afternoon, and night. Without food I would not be able to survive. My mom and dad work very hard to afford the food in our house. They also work very hard to cook nice meals for us everyday. I am thankful for this because there are a lot of people who do not have food or drinks on their table.

I am thankful for my school, Our Lady of Good Counsel. My parents pay a lot of money to send me to a great school. I am thankful that I have hardworking teachers who are so kind to us. I am thankful that I get to learn about Jesus everyday. I am also thankful that I get to learn about Science in class. The reason why I am thankful for these subjects is because many schools do not have these classes. I am also very thankful that I have an ASL teacher because then I get to communicate with people who are deaf. This is a fun and unique class and not many people get to learn it.

I am thankful for my soccer team because everyone on the team is supportive of each other. We all cheer each other on. We are all also great friends. One example is, when I kicked the ball into our own goal, no one yelled at me. Everyone told me that it was ok because it was an accident. Another reason why I am thankful for soccer is that I get the chance to hangout with my friends and exercise, especially since I don't get to hangout with my friends a lot because I am very busy.

In conclusion, this is why I am so thankful for everything I have. My family makes me feel happy and safe. My school teaches me about my religion and I get a chance to learn what others do not. My soccer team is very supportive of each other. Finally, my friends make me laugh. This is why I am so thankful. I have a life that other children do not get to live.
