Thankful Poem

I am thankful for my family. They help me through every step of the way. Even when the sky is gray. You help me through when things go bad. You make me smile when things get sad. You teach me lessons, right from wrong. And help me find where I belong. Thank you family for helping me through. I wouldn't miss anything in the world without you.

I am thankful for my friends. Thank you for bringing me into the day of light. We always forgive even though we fight. The best of friends will always share, my secret dreams, because they care. Thank you for being my friend. Our special bond will never end.

I am thankful for my Home. My home is a quiet space to end the day, where bad thoughts go away. My home is a place of comfort and love, just like a bird flying up above. My home makes me feel safe and sound, when all of my family is around. Thank you home for helping me stay, happy and loved from day to day.

I am thankful for my Family, Friends, and my Home.
