I am thankful for my mother because ever since I was born, she would always take care of me, she always looks after me and takes care of me when I'm sick or emotionally don't feel good, she would comfort me by telling me advice or getting me things that would make me feel better. I am forever grateful for the things that she does for me and my siblings, she always notices when someone needs help, or when someone is in need. She sacrificed a lot for me and my siblings and has gone through a lot when she gave birth to me. I will forever be grateful for my mother. I am grateful for the Korean boy band called "Stray Kids!" I am grateful for them because they are the only celebrities that care more about their fans and not only themselves in my opinion. Everytime I listen to their music or watch videos/lives of them, it makes me smile in joy, it brings me comfort when I listen to their music while I'm doing things, like doing chores, walking outside, cooking, playing games, doing homework or when I'm feeling down or upset, their videos make me laugh, giggle, smile, and bring me joy, listening to their music motivates me, even when sad they still bring a smile to my face. if Stray Kids didn't exist, I wouldn't be interested in KPOP today!
