

I'm grateful for this year:

By: Erickson Cruz Henriquez

Two people who have impacted my life are my Mom and Dad. These people matter to me because they help me in every situation I struggle with. They are always there for help.

A specific person who has impacted my life is my MOM, because she helps me how I can do great things without making an error for what I would do. The reason why my mom and dad impact my life is that both of them help me do the right things. For example, they confront me when I do something wrong, and my dad talks to me about how I need to behave. My mom tells me things when I get out of the car like she tells me how I need to behave, to get good grades in school, pass 7th grade, not get in trouble.

This changed my life because of achieving my personal goals, overcoming a significant challenge, or making small, deliberate changes like waking up with the first alarm.

THANKS FOR READING 👍