What I Am Thankful For...

This is about me being thankful and you being thankful and me teaching you. I am thankful for my family they help me overcome what i need to overcome.Me and my friends talk and spend time together at school. A moment of when my friend made me feel happy or supported was when they let me chose and and they help me with a lot of things

Thankful means things that you have and that you are happy with example food a roof over my head. I am thankful for ballet ice skating and all of my friends and family this will be about being thankful and what you are thankful for i am thankful for my family because they love and care for me and give me food and shelter.

My family spends time with me and makes me laugh. My family makes me feel nice and comfy in my house. My family is important to me because they love and care for me and make me feel like I belong. My friends are special to me because stuff. I really appreciate my friends because they help me with a lot of things.

I am thankful for my teacher and school because they both help me learn and overcome things. I am thankful for sports because they help me learn and be smarter and they tuff me up. I have learned about being thankful that it you only need stuff that you need. I am thankful for my family friends and sports because i need them because they all can make me smarter in all different ways being thankful means to me that every thing i have i am thankful for. I have learned about gratitude by that you are nice and have good things if you are nice . The point is the very thing i have even i am thankful for even if i dont show it if i dont show it.
