What I Appreciate

There are three things I appreciate. One thing is my parents. One reason is that they are so fun. They do crafts with me. Another reason is that they love me so much. They hug me and kiss me. Another thing I appreciate is my teachers. One reason is that they do fun things, like making parties for my class. Another reason is that they are very kind. They help me with my work if I don't understand something. My last thing is my friends. One reason is that they are so funny. They act silly all the time. Another reason is that they are sweet and love to play with me. My parents, teachers, and friends are the three things I appreciate.
